SLOVENIA

Slovenia is a small European country located at the crossroads of Central Europe, the Balkans, and the Mediterranean. Despite its size, it offers exceptional natural diversity, from the Alps and forests to rivers, lakes, and the Adriatic coast. Slovenia has a strong culture of sport, outdoor activities, and sustainable mobility, with cycling, hiking, team sports, and recreational movement deeply embedded in everyday life and education.

An interesting historical fact is that Slovenia is home to the oldest known wooden wheel in the world, discovered in the Ljubljana Marshes, reflecting a long-standing human relationship with movement, innovation, and cooperation.

Bela krajina

BELA KRAJINA & ČRNOMELJ

Črnomelj is located in Bela krajina, a region in south-eastern Slovenia shaped by rivers, forests, and open landscapes. The region is known for its strong local identity, folklore, hospitality, and close community ties. Life in Bela krajina is closely connected to nature, outdoor spaces, and shared activities.

Črnomelj is the cultural and social centre of the region. Despite its small size, the town has a lively rhythm influenced by youth initiatives, cultural events and community gatherings. Its human scale and relaxed atmosphere encourage connection, teamwork, creativity, and active participation in everyday community life. Črnomelj is also home to a unique natural phenomenon, the black human fish (Proteus anguinus parkelj), a rare cave-dwelling amphibian found only in the municipality of Črnomelj.
